ABOUT US

The surgeons of Kleinert Kutz Hand Care Center have extensive and varied backgrounds. These surgeons have expertise in Plastics, Orthopedics, and General Surgery. Many of the skills are derived from plastic surgery techniques including skin grafts, flaps and tissue transfers. Our plastic surgeons apply this world-class expertise to each patient in the Kleinert Kutz Aesthetic Plastic Center.

HISTORY

Harold E. Kleinert, M.D., started a hand surgery clinic in Louisville, Kentucky in 1953. Joined by Joseph E. Kutz, M.D., in 1964, they formed the organization now known as Kleinert Kutz Hand Care Center. The Kleinert Kutz Hand Care Center is one of the largest hand care referral practices in the world with pioneering achievements in hand and microsurgery, research, therapy, and orthotics. Our surgeons help patients with congenital deformity, trauma or cancer of the head and neck and the extremities to regain function and normal appearance through microsurgical reconstruction. Kleinert Kutz surgeons have performed a number of the world's firsts, including the first reported repair of digital arteries and the first several hand transplants performed in the United States.
